

Venture Scouts Learn to Dive!

Since February, a group of nine Venture Scouts has been working with the instructors at St. Thomas Diving Club to gain their Open Water certifications. This past weekend saw them all completing their academics and it won't be long before they're back in the water to finish their final two dives and receive their cards.

It has been a pleasure to watch them all progress through the pool sessions and into the ocean for their first two dives. Their confidence has been slowly building and I can't wait to see how they do the next time we take them out!

We'll let you know how they do!
